

University of Notre Dame

RELIGIOUS BULLETIN

March 25, 1941

TOMORROW

Wednesday, March 26

EASTER DUTY

in your own hall chapel

The time for Easter Duty, binding gravely, began the first Sunday of Lent (not Ash Wednesday).

Easter Duty is made in common at Notre Dame to help the phlegmatic and careless discharge this very serious obligation before they leave for the holidays.

Your cooperation and good example is asked for Wednesday morning even if you have already received many times since the first Sunday of Lent. There's no compulsion — except your charity and knowledge that: the fellow who finds it hard to go to the Sacraments feels easier about it if he has strong support; if it's an "all out" affair.

Make this year's Easter Duty Day an impressive act of Faith. Times are bad. For seniors and many juniors (their last—here at N. D.) your Easter Duty in common should be a fervent act of thanks for the past, a confident prayer for the future for yourself individually, and for all your brothers of the family of Our Lady.

Encourage the holder-outers and the putter-offers to go to Confession tonight. The time is very limited in the morning.

Confessions tonight: Basement, Dillon, Howard and Cavanaugh Chapels, 6:15-7. All hall chapels at night prayer. Dillon, Howard and Cavanaugh Chapels, 7:30-10—whenever you push the buzzer.

Off-campus students—can receive at Dillon up to noon.

THANKS. The Scholastic was right: Barnum was wrong. Thanks to all those who made the Bengals this year "the greatest show on earth": Jim Newland, promoter extraordinary and his smooth-working, high-powered Scholastic staff; generous capable "Nappy" and his assistants; the fine publicity supporters; the Catholic Students Mission Crusaders; Mr. Lloyd, the Ave Maria Press; the Huddle and all the rest—and then the contestants themselves. Even the losers were grand in defeat. "Fighting Irish" was the name for them. The whole affair made a lot think; why don't more students take up boxing?

God bless you all. You'll meet some day in Heaven some Bengal souls who will say "Thanks" too.

PRAYERS: Deceased, Godfather of Jack Fallon (Carr.); Father of Bob Schoo, '43; mother of Vince Brown, '22; Ill, brother of Brother Alexander, C.S.C.; friend of John Walsh (Lyons); Mrs. Morrison; Correction: (not deceased) friend of Jack Fitzgerald (Off-campus). Seven special intentions.