May Adoration.

Next week May Adoration will begin on Thursday. Your recent questionnaires show the value of this traditional Notre Dame devotion. Here are some students' remarks on Adoration. They are taken at random from the recent questionnaires, answering Question 7, "What benefits have you derived from Adoration?":

"During those half hours, I've solved more of my serious problems than at any other time."

"Great, you get a chance to know Our Lord in a way that you want to."

"It lets me get off and talk to God - gives me a better understanding."

"Firm resolutions to avoid sin."

"I've learned that God will help even in the smallest of things."

"Gives one time to think and organize himself."

"Comfort in knowing that my future will be secure, here and hereafter."

Promoters for May Adoration will canvass the halls over the week-end. They have undertaken this work for your convenience. Do them the courtesy of signing up your name as promptly as possible.

Signatures are asked so that the student staff of the Prefect of Religion can determine whether every period is covered by at least two adorers. The staff also can then send you postcards as reminders.

The afternoon periods will be the most neglected during the balmy month of May. It takes a little greater generosity to make your period of Adoration in the afternoon rather than in the morning, but then remember to Whom you are being generous. And, oh yes, adoration will continue until the last week of May, then exams start.

Besides reparation and thanksgiving, some intentions for May Adoration could be: true and lasting peace among nations; your preservation from war's tragedies; success in the final examinations; positions during the summer and after graduation; your parents.

Confraternity Convention at St. Mary's.

The Confraternity Convention at St. Mary's will open tomorrow, Friday, afternoon at 4:30 with some 400 visiting delegates from about 26 universities and colleges.

Those who have signed up or intend to sign up as leaders for discussion groups should attend Friday at 4:30 and also the following meetings: 2:00 P.M. Saturday, 10:15 A.M. Sunday. Leaders will be given special training. About 200 N.D. students are invited to participate as members of discussion groups, made up of students of visiting colleges and of St. Mary's.

Full directions and information will be given to leaders and members of discussion groups when you register at the Registration Desk at St. Mary's.

A complete program of the convention is on the Bulletin Board in each hall. Look it over and decide which sessions and meetings you care to attend. There are two sessions on Friday which will interest you. The speakers are students; the subjects are "Replies to Press Misrepresentations of Catholic Doctrine" at 4:30 P.M.; and "The College Student and Parish Leadership" at 7:15 P.M., out in time for the K.ofC. dance.

There is a general invitation issued to all N.D. students, but quality and interest, not mere quantity, are sought at the convention this year. Your real interest can be evidenced by leaving your name with one of the Prefects of Religion not later than Friday evening if you plan to attend.

PRAYERS: Ill, Bob Haines (Dil), sick at home; H. Heide, former student. 11 sp. ints.
