Old Home Week.

That was the atmosphere of yesterday with Bishop O'Hara returning to his boys and the faculty; with Father Hugh O'Donnell stressing return to God; and finally with Father Joe Hart, the missionary, a former student himself, exhorting the student body of which he was once a member.

Father Hart gave you the program for the mission! Services each night at 7:00 and each morning at 6:30. He, himself, as he announced will hear confessions in the big church every afternoon from 4 to 6 in the front confessional near the sacristy.

It's Old Home Week - and not just for the sophomores and freshmen making the Mission. Return, if you've slipped, to the family of God, of which you are a member when in the state of grace. Sanctifying grace makes you a son of God - a far greater honor even than being a son of Notre Dame, proud though you be of that title.

Mission Masses.

Each morning the Mass will be offered for a special intention, usually for one of the students or professors who died during the preceding year. The Masses to be announced each evening by Father Hart will be for the following: Professor Eugene J. Payton, Professor Arthur Haas; Frederic Aselage and James McMichael, freshmen who died last year here at school, and finally for the next one of us to die. Offer your Mass and pray for those intentions on the day assigned.

Army and Navy.

Notre Dame takes care of her own and doesn't forget her boys even after graduation. We have been planning through the cooperation of the Alumni Office, K. of C. and the Student Commission for Decent Literature to send the Scholastic each week to every Notre Dame man in service. This promise has already been sent by the Alumni Office to some N.D. men in camps. Several grateful replies already received state: "Thank God that someone in the outside world is thinking of us."

Hand in to the Prefect of Religion offices immediately the names of any student in service whether he received a degree or not. As long as he was once a member of Our Lady's family, then he belongs on that list for the Scholastic.

Some generous souls in each hall on the campus can help them and also Christ, by going to the Prefect of Religion and volunteering:

1. To help on the collection and mailing of the Scholastics each week.
2. To help solicit for October Adoration.

Notre Dame doesn't forget her boys and above all can't forget Christ and Our Lady during October. Daily Adoration in half hour periods is the tradition at Notre Dame during the month of the Holy Rosary.

This month the intention designated by the Holy Father is for peace. The world certainly needs it. You will receive peace kneeling before Christ at Adoration. Volunteer to help solicit adorers, you'll help Christ, yourself and others.

CORRECTION Recent advice causes doubt that angus J. MacDonald (announced killed in air crash) is N.D. man. Checking identification!
