A Letter St. Thomas Wrote to a Young Man.

"You have asked me, dear friend in Christ, how we must study to acquire the treasure of knowledge. My advice to you is based upon this principle: that you must go through the rivulets and do not try at once to come to the sea, because we must necessarily go to the more difficult through the less difficult. This, then, is my advice to you:

"Be slow to speak;

love purity of conscience;

pray often;

love to be in your room;

be kind to every one;

do not inquire into the affairs
of others;

do not be interested in the sayings
and doings of people of the world; do not be too familiar with anyone, because too great familiarity breeds contempt and gives occasion for leaving off study;

avoid all needless running about;

imitate the saints and the just;

remember every good thing you hear and do not consider who says it;

understand what you read and hear;

labor to fill the storehouse of your mind;

do not inquire into the things above you."

Don't Forget the Display.

Tomorrow from 2 p.m. until after Benediction, in the sacristy of the church, there will be a display of the many vessels and vestments in the possession of Notre Dame. This is your opportunity to get a close-up view and a description of the many sacred objects collected since the early days of the University. Pastor Villafior, Notre Dame's own skilled needle worker, has finished the hand embroidered vestments to be used during the Centennial year. These will be on exhibition.

Don't Rush.

Christ remains within you many minutes after Holy Communion has been received - at least seven minutes. You show disrespect to Christ by failing to make a proper thanksgiving. On Sunday, don't rush out with the crowd. After Mass remain in your place a few minutes longer in prayer.

PRAYERS: (111) Father Patrick Murphy. Eight special intentions.
