about
NOTRE DAME FAMILY HOLY WEEK

Chicago. "It was nice to receive a Religious Bulletin such as yours of the 12th to ask those who are friends of the University to offer their prayers of Holy Week and it is a privilege which the O'Dowd family will comply with . . . I have much to be thankful for due to the fact that my son Frank E. Dowd '42 is still alive although he is overseas attached to the 50th submarine squad. . . . You may depend upon it that the boys of Notre Dame will be in our prayers Holy Week."

Chicago "Please accept my thanks for the opportunity to join in this Family Holy Week . . . You may rest assured that my wife and four children will join in the program as outlined in your letter."

High Mass Sunday Starts At 8:00 (Not 8:30).

The change is for this Sunday only - Palm Sunday. There is no change in the time of the other Masses: 6, 7, and 10. The beautiful and inspiring liturgical ceremonies of Holy Week begin with Palm Sunday. Palms will be blessed before the 8:00 Mass. At this Mass the Passion as told by St. Matthew will be chanted by three priests. There will be no sermon at any of the Masses.

Next Week - The Long Gospels.

In Holy Week the Gospel stories of the Passion of Our Blessed Lord are read in the Mass: Sunday (St. Matthew), Tuesday (St. Mark), Wednesday (St. Luke), Good Friday (St. John).

Participate in these Masses intelligently. The Missal will help you. The Lenten Missal contains all the Masses for Holy Week. Buy one at the Office of the Prefect of Religion. Those who use the Daily Missal will find all the Holy Week Masses in their proper places.

Killed In Action: Lieut. Ed Phelan, Jr.

No details about the death of Lieutenant have been received other than those mentioned at the Masses last Sunday. Ed was killed in action on March 22, after serving nine months in the battle zone with the Air Force in Africa. He would have graduated in '40 if he had remained in school. Continue to pray for him.

And pray for Richard M. Gerl '38 who was seriously wounded in New Guinea in January. He is now in a hospital in Australia.
