Don't be a slow starter.
Start the Novena for Exams NOW. June 17 is Father's Day . . . . .

A Suggestion For . . . . .
(Seniors, draftees and transferees)

The end is near. Within a few weeks you will leave the campus to serve God elsewhere. Some of you will take up civilian jobs, others will take advanced schooling in the Service. It goes without saying, you want success in your new undertakings. God will send the blessing you want, provided you ask Him for it. "Ask and you shall receive." You should enter into the final Novena of the semester, beginning today or tomorrow if you failed to start it today, with a sincere determination to persevere in nine consecutive days of Mass, Holy Communion and Litany of the Sacred Heart. Many departees find it profitable to make a General Confession. If you are planning to make one, prepare to see your confessor before the examinations start, lest you be distracted by the last moment rush.

Worried?? A Paragraph For You.

What are your troubles? Sin? Classes? A decision to be made? See a priest. He can help you. It is one of the laws of Divine Providence that God works through men. He wants men to be humble enough to seek the help of a neighbor. Maybe you have prayed for help, but perhaps you have not sought counsel, and God is waiting for you to make that move. Those in charge of your welfare have been given special graces to assist them in guiding you. A little worry can grow into a big obstacle to study and the practice of virtue. Visit a priest tonight. If it is sin that weighing on your mind, get rid of it in confession immediately. If it is a sin, then you are causing a number of other people considerable worry, Christ, Our Lady, Guardian Angel, just to name a few.

More Priests To Serve You.

Twenty-three Notre Dame students will become Holy Cross Fathers next Sunday. You should be interested in this ordination even though you are not acquainted with any of the men. This ceremony will have a repercussion on your life. The important point is not that some of these men will teach you, but that from Sunday and thereafter there will be twenty-three more Masses offered for you every day. A truth too often forgotten is that every priest, no matter where he offers Mass is offering it for you. This ordination prompts all of us to thank God for this new blessing, and to pray that more young men will answer Christ's call to be priests.

Their First Mass.

A priest says his first Mass, changes the bread and wine into the Living Christ, on the day of his ordination. There are two parts to the ceremony: the administration of Holy Orders followed by Mass which all the newly ordained offer at the same time. These twenty-three priests will offer Mass with the Bishop. They will remain in the sanctuary while the Bishop prepares the bread and wine for the sacrifice at the altar. All the words of the Mass are received by the Bishop with the newly ordained. All say the words of consecration. Each priest can say that he is responsible for the consecration of the Host; each can say this is his first Mass. If you assist at this Mass, you will receive the benefit of twenty-four Masses. Why not attend the Mass? The entire ceremony will be completed by 10:30.

. . . . . DON'T FORGET THIS . . . . .

The usual Sunday schedule of Masses will be said in the BASEMENT CHAPEL because of the ordination ceremony which will take place in the upper church. An extra 10:10 Mass will be offered in the chapel of each civilian hall. (Servicemen go to 10:10 in Basement Chapel.)
