Married Alumni Speak About Mixed Marriage.

"Just like the word itself. They are mixed, and what a mixture! No good."

"Contracted one and was luckier than most, my wife being a high church Anglican, but advise Catholics to shun them."

"Against, generally because of the fundamental differences in outlook upon life, not because of bigotry."

"I consider them very risky -- a good deal like playing cards with strangers on a Pullman."

"Extremely bad. I have a close friend in a bad predicament now. It was caused by a mixed marriage."

"My father was a non-Catholic and a good man; but I married a Catholic. I should know first-hand and I am very much against any mixed marriage."

"One of opposition; there are exceptions. In this territory I hear of fallen-away Catholics every day with mixed marriage the cause."

"This town is full of them and they seem 100 percent flops as far as my observation goes. I'm against them."

"I believe that they are a far more serious mistake for all concerned than even our religion teachers indicate."

"Got a Catholic girl! Married at the altar the bond seems stronger. It brings me closer to my wife when we kneel in our home and say the rosary during Lent."

"They seldom work. Several, among my aunts and uncles, have caused them to lose their faith."

"From the result of mixed marriages of some acquaintances, I would not encourage them."

"Something to be avoided if possible. Nothing like having a wife kneeling and praying beside you in church."

"As the offspring of one, I am only now beginning to see the many terrible possibilities."

Who Are You And What Do You Want?

This was the question the ten-year-old Lucia asked the beautiful Lady when she appeared the eighth time to her and her two companions. This last visit with the Lady took place October 13, 1917. The heavenly visitor answered Lucia:

"I am the Lady of the Rosary, and I have come to warn the faithful to amend their lives and ask pardon for their sins. They must not continue to offend Our Lord already so deeply offended. They must say the Rosary."

October is the month of the Holy Rosary. Make a resolution to recite five decades every day whether you are here or at home during your vacation. Many blessings will follow your perseverance in this practice.

Two Reminders.

1. Students interested in securing information about the priesthood and the religious life are invited to hear Monsignor Sabo of South Bend speak on "Vocations." The meeting will be held next Monday evening in the Rockne Lounge at 6:30. Questions will be answered. If you think you have a vocation, drop over and have some of your problems cleared up.

2. October Adoration starts next week. When you sign up for a half hour, remember that means you will take the same period for two weeks.

OFFER SATURDAY MASS AND COMMUNION FOR NO INJURIES. PLAYERS WILL APPRECIATE IT.
