

Time of evening Mission
services changed to 7:00
P.M.

University of Notre Dame
Religious Bulletin
September 17, 1946

Late Mass in Dillon and Cavanaugh at 7:20 daily, except Sunday.

From The Mail Bag.

A card comes from Eddie Dixon of Howard Hall saying that his brother died after a mine accident in Pennsylvania on September 5.

* * * * *

Towards the end of last semester, a collection was taken up for Van Wallace who needed a rolling cot of special design. Returned students will recall that Van has been paralyzed for over twenty years as the result of a broken neck he suffered while swimming at home during the summer vacation after his freshman year. The cot helps Van to travel around. Here is a paragraph from Van's letter.

"I know it is too late to thank the fellows who chipped in so generously for the cot. But will you tell anyone connected with it that it was simply swell and that I appreciate it plenty. It was a grand trick to pull on a guy. Mom and I send our best to everyone on the campus. And you know that we will continue to keep you in our prayers. By the way, did you know that your gift reached me practically on my twenty-second anniversary?"

* * * * *

Ensign Roy Grumbine, '44, died in action when his destroyer was sunk in the second battle of the Philippines. A paragraph from the letter of his superior officer to Roy's parents is worth quoting. Roy's destroyer was the "Hoel".

"Roy had something which astonished us in the discussions which we had on several occasions, and I am sure it did not let him down -- his splendid Faith. It was so extremely stimulating for me to see how sincerely and devotedly he clung to the tenets of his religion -- certainly rare that a man at twenty-two had achieved a philosophy which was to him so perfect and complete. As you wait and pray, try to keep in mind that whatever happened to your son, the spiritual happiness which we know he had will carry him through his trials and, God willing, back to us."

The Ember Days.

In virtue of a dispensation granted to Notre Dame, the students, faculty and employees are dispensed from the law of fast and abstinence on the Ember Days, which fall on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of this week. This dispensation is granted to all students whether they live on or off campus, and the dispensation still holds whether the meals are taken on or off campus. The privilege does not permit the eating of meat on Friday.

