Profit Or Loss?

One of the last things written by Maurice Francis Egan, the celebrated Catholic writer, diplomatist, and former professor of English at Notre Dame was:

"Looking back, if I had to live over again, I should never worry about anything that might happen--during my long life the things that I worried about never happened, and the things to which I gave no unhappy thoughts always happened.

"I should like to say, too, for the benefit of the young, that when one is old, one regrets not the sins one has committed so much as the good deeds he might have performed. As a Christian, I feel that I can leave my sins to Christ, Who is more merciful than man: but I can never forgive myself for not having been keener to discover means of helping others".

Are you proud of your behavior over the Easter holidays or disappointed in the opportunities for good you let slip by - on the train, at home, in social gatherings, with your companions?

Seek Christ's mercy for sin in the confessional, and then partake of His strength in Holy Communion--the Sacrament in which he makes one more keen in seeing good to be done, and more able to perform it.

Prayers.

The father of John Mastrangelo (Al) died during the Easter vacation. Anthony Teckus, the cousin of Leo Reed, was killed in the Centralia coal mine disaster. An Aunt and a friend of Father Craddick, CSC died during Holy Week.

Notre Dame Night

Monday, April 14, will be commemorated by all Notre Dame alumni and students as Notre Dame Night. The celebration of this day should begin in the morning at Mass and Communion. Notre Dame fellowship deepens at the Holy Sacrifice and at the Communion rail. Fellowship with our War Dead-327- must be kept on this day too; another reason why every Catholic student should assist at Mass and receive Holy Communion Monday morning.

CONFESSIONS EVERY NIGHT

6:30 to 7:30 P.M. Basement Chapel of church
7:30 to 10:00 P.M. Dillon and Cavanaugh Halls.
