Alumni Advise Seniors.

In a Religious Survey (1932) of the N.D. alumni, the following question was asked:
"What advice would you give to a recent graduate of Notre Dame contemplating marriage?" Here is the result of the poll made up of 218 alumni.

Choose a Catholic girl	111
Save money	40
Find the right girl	23
Be sure you love the girl	8

Some of the comments made on this question are worth reading.

"Avoid the 'boss's daughter'; seek the home loving girl--old fashioned if you will or well disciplined by her mother. Avoid like poison the girl who had 'had her fling'--and for happiness in marriage the young man must be equally clean."

"Study the family into which you marry and see that they are happy and also good Catholics."

"I have had happy in a mixed marriage but I was one of the lucky ones. I do not advise it. As an old German missionary once said, 'Get a good Catholic wife what can cook!'"

"A store house of prayers, a bushel of money, and two barrels of common sense."

"Find a job. Work hard at it. Find the Catholic girl who is not afraid to undergo some privations and poverty. Marry her before some one else gets her."

"First, adhere rigidly to Catholic ideals as to courtship, granting that he had already picked out the right Catholic girl; second, convince himself beforehand that to make a marriage really successful, before God and men, requires the maximum of a man's sacrifice and courage. It isn't a job for a weakling--any more than being a priest is a job for a weakling. A happy marriage entails the hardest sort of constant effort--and even harder praying."

Graduates, Any Old Clothes?

The other day a graduating senior stuck his head into the office of the Prefect of Religion and asked if there was an outlet here for old clothes. The answer was; "Yes, we always have a place for them./" Leave your castaways in the Pamphlet Room in Dillon hall.
