Two Bits More

You guessed it; this is a touch, an attempt to get you to open your wallet a little wider, you and all Catholics in the world.

The greatest blessing you possess is your Catholic Faith. You have that Faith because some priest centuries ago was willing to leave the comforts of his home in Europe and come to America. Don't forget America was once a foreign mission. You have not only some priest to thank, but also those European Catholics who supported the mission venture of that man of God by prayer and money.

Your Faith has brought you joy. Don't you think you should share your joy with others by supporting a mission somewhere in the world. On the one Sunday of the year the Pope asks you to help the missions by money and by prayer. This Sunday is Mission Sunday. An extra two bits dropped into the collection basket will bring the knowledge to Heaven, Our Blessed Mother and all the other wonderful truths of our Faith to others.

Mission Sunday and U.N. Sunday fall on the same day. The United Nations organization is trying to bring peace to the world. This Sunday begins a week of effort on the part of our nation's leaders to make the citizens of the U.S. more conscious of the work of the U.N. The work of the missions is halted considerably when there is no peace. So offer your Mass and Holy Communion this Sunday for the success of the missions and the U.N.

New Item

Tamaqua, Pa. Oct. 17. Fast thinking on the part of a driver here saved the lives of many on a highway near this city, when his truck loaded with 20,000 pounds of dynamite caught fire and exploded. As soon as he detected the fire, the driver ran his car off the highway and went along the road warning all traffic to stop.

An impure story is dynamite of another kind. It can blow one into hell. Sex tales create tempting images and desires in those who hear them. How guilty are you of doing the Devil's work?

A single sex story may seem harmless. It may not create a temptation at the moment. But the story has not been lost, because the imagination has a way of storing up images, and when least expected the impurity will return to tempt one. Aim to keep your lips absolutely pure.

PRAYERS: (seriously ill) father of John Guion. Four Special Intentions.

Novena For Vocations Prayers (Oct. 22-31)

O Mary, Queen of the clergy, pray for us; obtain for us many holy priests.
O Lord, grant unto Thy Church saintly priests and fervent religious.
Send forth, O Lord, labourers into Thy harvest. (300 days indulg. for each prayer)

To thee, O Star of the Sea, from the waves of this life I lift my eyes; guide my soul, and show me a course whereupon I may serve our Divine Master, and at last reach the port of our Heavenly country, through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.
