

Boy Leadership and The Knights of Columbus

During the past twenty-five years more than 12,000 Catholic men, including 565 priests, have received the practical training in youth leadership offered each year in the Summer Schools of Boy Leadership conducted in centrally located Catholic colleges and universities by the Knights of Columbus Supreme Council Boy Life Bureau.

This year this practical training in youth leadership is being conducted on a convenient week-end basis and will consist of a number of formal lectures by the professionally trained staff of the Boy Life Bureau, a series of panel discussions, some actual workshops in group work methods and several visiting lecturers from diocesan youth serving agencies. Lecture and discussion topics will include such practical phases of youth work as: Characteristics of the High School Boy; Program planning; Principles and Methods of Committee Work; Activities; Relationships; etc.

Tony Fay.

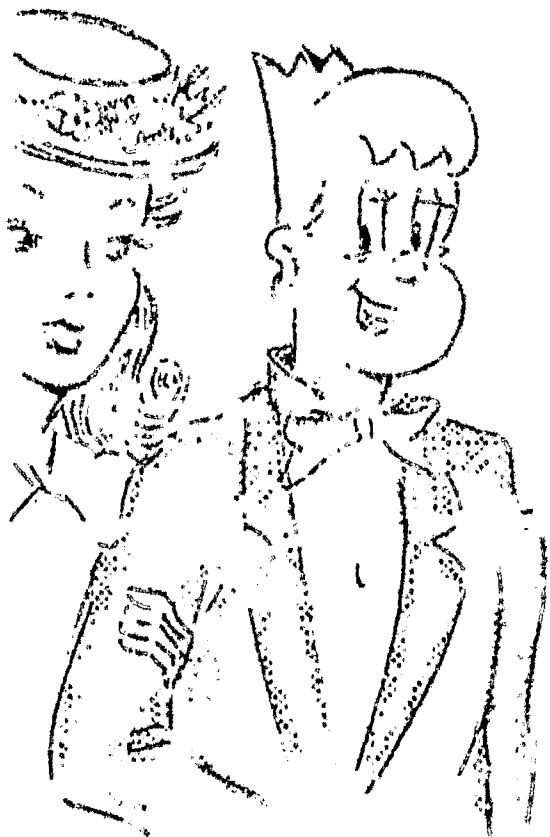

The latest reports from the hospital are most encouraging. Tony has been up in a wheel chair for short periods. The doctor thinks he may be able to go home in about ten days. But there is another detail about Tony's condition that should make us continue to pray. His mind is not at all clear. He often slips back into periods of coma. Prayer has kept him alive. Your prayer will bring a complete cure. So don't stop visiting your hall chapel.

Thanks.

The Prefect of Religion wishes to acknowledge the following note: "Just read your article on the boy who wanted to come here but died before he could. Please use this (an offering) for a Mass both for him and as a thank-you from me for the grace of coming here."

Prayers.

(deceased) Helen Rembowski, sister of Father Francis Luzny, CSC; Aunt of Regis Dalo (Ly); mother of Clement Powers, '34.
(Emergency appendectomy) Bill Kennedy (Cav).
