Notre Dame welcomes her one hundred and seventh freshman class. Give the boys a hand!

Being a freshman is an experience "once in a lifetime." Getting homesick, yearning to take the next plane home is quite a novel experience, too. Homesickness hits some harder than others. The more one appreciates his good father and mother, the more he'll miss them. Visit the Grotto. That's a good place to overcome homesick omptiness no one seems able to fill.

Get Set For The Missions

First Mission: For all freshmen--September 14, 15, 16. When you hear the big bells booming, 6:45 p.m., turn your freshman toes toward Sacred Heart Church. You are requested and expected to make every exercise of this three-day mission. It will be preached by Father Regis O'Neil, C.S.C., an experienced Holy Cross Missioner.

Notre Dame doesn't bring you here to set you up socially with South Bend and Mishawaka dates before you have cut your first Notre Dame teeth. She brings you here and places you before the Blessed Sacrament to listen to an experienced Holy Cross priest tell you exactly, pointedly, why you should want to remain at Notre Dame.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings--6:20 a.m.--you are to attend Mass in the main church. Saturday morning the Papal Benediction will be given and all rosari and crucifixes will be blessed with special indulgences.

Second Mission: For all sophomores--September 18, 19, 20. When you "old-timers" hear the church bells, 6:45 p.m., start moving churchward. Your mission preacher will be Father William Robinson, C.S.C., who taught dogmatic theology for so many years at Holy Cross College, Washington, D.C.

If you have neglected the sacraments during the summer take the opportunity now to get to confession before the mission begins. Sophomores will feel much more comfortable during the sermons if they think the missioner is talking about the other fellow. It won't seem so personal.

Each morning--September 19, 20, 21--at 6:20 a.m. you are to attend Mass in the main church. The last morning--The Papal Benediction and the special indulgences on rosaries and crucifixes.

Third Mission: For all juniors, seniors and grads--September 21, 22, 23. It's unnecessary to stress the importance of a mission to experienced upperclassmen. They know it's the best way to start the school year. Father William Robinson will preach this mission also. You have heard him preach before--'nuf said. This will be the last mission at Notre Dame for the seniors. All are expected and requested not to miss a single mission exercise--no excuse to be patronizing the caf and the busses and taxis.

Each morning--September 22, 23, 24--Mass in the main church at 6:20. The last morning--the Papal Benediction and special indulgences on rosaries and crucifixes.

Prayers: JACK MILLS, '47, IS CRITICALLY ILL WITH POLIO. HE IS IN AN IRON LUNG. ONLY PRAYERS CAN SAVE HIM. He was to have been married this coming Saturday. Remember him in your mission Masses and Holy Communions. Brother (deceased) of Rev. K. Healy, C.S.C.
