

University of Notre Dame
RELIGIOUS BULLETIN
February 29, 1952

CONSCIENTIOUS OBJECTOR!

(The Duke of Ostrich)

Big-hearted Duke! He gave up daily Communion for Lent.

(Confidentially, the Duke is an escapist. He says, "I have my own ideas of religion." He calls Daily Communion "escapism" so as to avoid the readjustment of life which daily Communion requires. His favorite rejoinder is "My conscience is at peace." But the man who built his house on sand was at peace — until the storm came.)

The Rev. C. M. Brissette, O.S.M., National Director of the Sorrowful Mother Novena, will preach at all Masses next Sunday.