This Sunday Throughout The World

The offering taken up at all the Masses throughout the world, this coming Sunday, will go to the Society for the Propagation of the Faith -- to the missions, local and foreign. Make a little sacrifice in their behalf; you'll find the investment pays big dividends. We're all called to be missionaries, you know. Hence, if you can't go personally, then send one in your name.

According to Our Holy Father, Pius XII, in his most recent Encyclical, Fidei Donum, we can do this in three ways: Prayer, Sacrifice, Vocations:

- 1) "We desire in the first place that more prayers be said for the missions, and they be said with more enlightened fervor... And in these years which are probably decisive for the future of Catholicism in many countries, let us multiply Masses celebrated for the intentions of the missions... Pray, therefore, Beloved Brethren, pray still more. Bear in mind the immense spiritual needs of so many people who are still so far from the true faith, or who are so much deprived of help to persevere in it... Repeat the prayer which was that of apostolic workers of every time, 'Hallowed be Thy Name, Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth as it is in Heaven.'"
- 2) "Recalling the generosity of Jesus Christ Our Lord Who, having all things, made Himself poor for you to enrich you with His poverty, give that which is superfluous to your needs, and even sometimes that which is for necessity. The development of the missionary apostolate depends upon your liberality ... If it is true that the supernatural life is a life of charity, and grows with the giving of one's self, it can be asserted that the Catholic vitality of a nation is measured by the sacrifices it is capable of making for the missionary cause."
- 3) "Develop among the faithful a conditioning of the spirit, as We said a short while ago, an opening of the soul which renders them more sensitive to the universal interests of the Church, and more apt to hear the ancient calling of the Lord, which resounds from age to age, 'Leave your country, your kinfolk, and your father's house, for the land which I shall show you.'

"A generation trained according to these truly Catholic ideals, either in families or in schools, in parishes or in Catholic Action, and in pious works, such a generation will give to the Church the apostles she needs to announce the Gospel to all peoples."
