On this "Wagon Train" day when a few are taking bets we'll still have snow at Easter, and others are growing anxious to soak up a few "rays" before vacation, the Seniors should be planning ahead for the week-end. This is the week-end of their Retreat.

A Retreat for Seniors, and for anyone for that matter, is a time well suited to developing both the natural and supernatural man. It's a time for getting away from the fog that tends to hide the good from a man. The quiet that accompanies a retreat enables one to better follow the teaching of Christ and to realize that the true meaning of life lies in finding what God wants you to do. It is a time for understanding the shamefulness of sin and how it should be hated. During this time, it is possible to develop a holy fear of God, see more clearly the vanity of earthly things, and how to deny oneself.

After a retreat, a man should be able to say with St Paul, "I live now, not I; but Christ liveth in me."

A man's soul should be thirsty for the benefits that follow from a retreat. It should help one to know how to act better with those he lives with.

St. Peter Chrysologus invited his people to make a retreat in these words:

"We have given a year to the body; let us give a day to the soul. Let us live a little bit for God after living altogether for the world. Let the voice of God sound in your ears; let not familiar sounds confuse your hearing."

The preacher for the Senior Retreat will be Father Ralph Fisher. Confessions will be heard after each of the conferences.
