Notre Dame, Ind.

TONIGHT AT 6:30, over WNDU tube and radio, Round Two of the Great Debate. TOMORROW NIGHT at 8:30, or earlier, live--at the Circle, our own "Meet the Team" Rally. Be there, with or without a date. It's a safe bet that when the sun sets over Chapel Hill tomorrow evening, the town will belong to Dabeiro and Sefcik. But they'll be heading back here right after the game to say thanks for your support. The First Saturday of the month always sees a big jump in Mass attendance and reception of Holy Communion. Tomorrow, however, add to your other intentions a remembrance of the team. Maybe last Saturday's defeat can be turned into something beneficial if it prompts a revival of the old tradition hereabouts of praying for the team's safety and success each Fall Saturday morning. Remember, there's no evening Mass on Saturday.

• LOOKING FOR SOME INDULGENCES? Numerous plenary and partial indulgences are accorded members of the Confraternity of the Rosary. You can join the Confraternity by stopping at the Chaplain's office in Dillon (Room 116) and writing your name in the Confraternity register. Today, the Feast of the Most Holy Rosary, would be a good time to do this.

• THANKS to all who responded to our call for blood donors. Others will still be welcomed. Make the arrangements by stopping at 116 Dillon, any evening.

• THIS IS THE TIME OF YEAR to check up on those who are enrolled in the Scapular. If you have never been enrolled, see one of the Chaplains. If you need a new scapular, stop at the Pamphlet Room in Dillon Hall.

• WHEN CARDINAL SPELLMAN comes here October 28th to elevate Notre Dame's Father Mendez to the fullness of the priesthood, he will remind the new bishop of the burdens of the episcopacy. Too often, there is a tendency to forget that onus and take note only of the honor. Let's assist the bishop-elect with our prayers during these days. His duties as Bishop of the new diocese of Arecibo will be burdensome, to be sure. He requests a remembrance in your prayers and almsgiving as he sets forth on his newest missionary undertaking. To be sure, God and Our Lady will keep an eye on the Bishop and people of Arecibo. Let's us do so too. An occasional prayer, at least.

• PRAYERS. Deceased: Mother of John F. Moriarty, '42; father of Mark Storen, '57; brother of Bro. George Noakes, C.S.C.; sister of Rev. Boleslaus Sztuczko, C.S.C.; brother of Rev. Christopher Brooks, C.S.C. Ill: Father of Joe Maguire, Off-Campus. Two special intentions.

WHAT ARE YOU HIDING IN THERE?

YOU....WHO HAVEN'T YET BEEN TO CONFESSION SINCE RETURNING to school. (And there must be more than a few of you, judging from the poor attendance at Mass thus far!) What are you hiding in there? In your conscience. Some specter? A tassellated afghan spaniel yak? A grickly gractus? A many footed lion? Whatever it is, no matter how long it's been entrenched, it can be dismembered as quickly and easily as any character in the zany zoo of Dr. Seuss. Provided....provided you can muster the nerve to step into a confessional. Sure, it means dropping the disguise, parting with the put-up-front. But it also means finding the real "you"; it means getting out of the rut you've been in; it means growing up! TONIGHT....you can slip into a confessional in Dillon or Keenan-Stanford or Howard. TOMORROW....between 6:00 and 8:30, you can slip into a confessional in Sacred Heart Church--before going off to the "Meet the Team" Rally at the Circle. Wherever and whenever you step out of the confessional, you'll experience a release from much of your anxiety. Whatever's been hiding in your conscience, pass the word along....the lease isn't being renewed. In fact, it's "up" today.
