Juniors and Seniors gather again at the Grotto this evening at 6:45 and the closing of their Mission. Remember that there is a plenary indulgence attached to making a visit to the Grotto as a member of a group like this. Following the sermon, the Papal blessing will be given and Benediction will be held. Ceremonies will be finished by 7:30, in time for the Rally which will get under way at 7:45. Confessions will be heard following the Mission until all have been heard. All upperclassmen who haven't yet taken advantage of the Mission to get to Confession had better turn their steps toward the Church before joining their friends at the Rally in

BE ON TIME

Be sure you get yourself and the little woman to Church on time this Sunday. There were too many stragglers at the late Masses last Sunday. Make sure you leave your hall or the Circle ten minutes before Mass is scheduled to begin. And keep in mind that the Masses begin promptly on the hour. It is discourteous to the celebrant to have people still scrambling for seats ten minutes after he has begun to offer Mass.

SUGGESTIONS

Reports indicate that some could do with a little free advice on how to study. For the benefit of those who are new at the business of "going to college" or the business of studying, we offer the following suggestions:

1. Budget your time and stick to it.
2. Take an occasional "Coffee break." Work 50 minutes, Relax 10.
3. Learn to read faster. It's done by practice.
4. Review as you read, checking back every few pages.
5. Keep classroom notes short and to the point. Fill them out later.
6. DO THE HARD HOMEWORK FIRST. EFFICIENCY DROPS SHARPLY TOWARD BEDTIME.
7. Turn off the radio or phonograph while studying.
8. Make sure you have enough light.
9. Keep a dictionary HANDY, and use it.
10. Keep alert. Ask yourself questions as you read.
11. If you have a favorite TV program, watch it — then back to work.
12. Keep notes orderly, in one notebook divided by subjects.
13. Don't lag behind in your homework, particularly in foreign languages.
14. Watch for summing-up paragraphs in textbooks, and learn them thoroughly.
15. REVIEW, REVIEW, REVIEW.

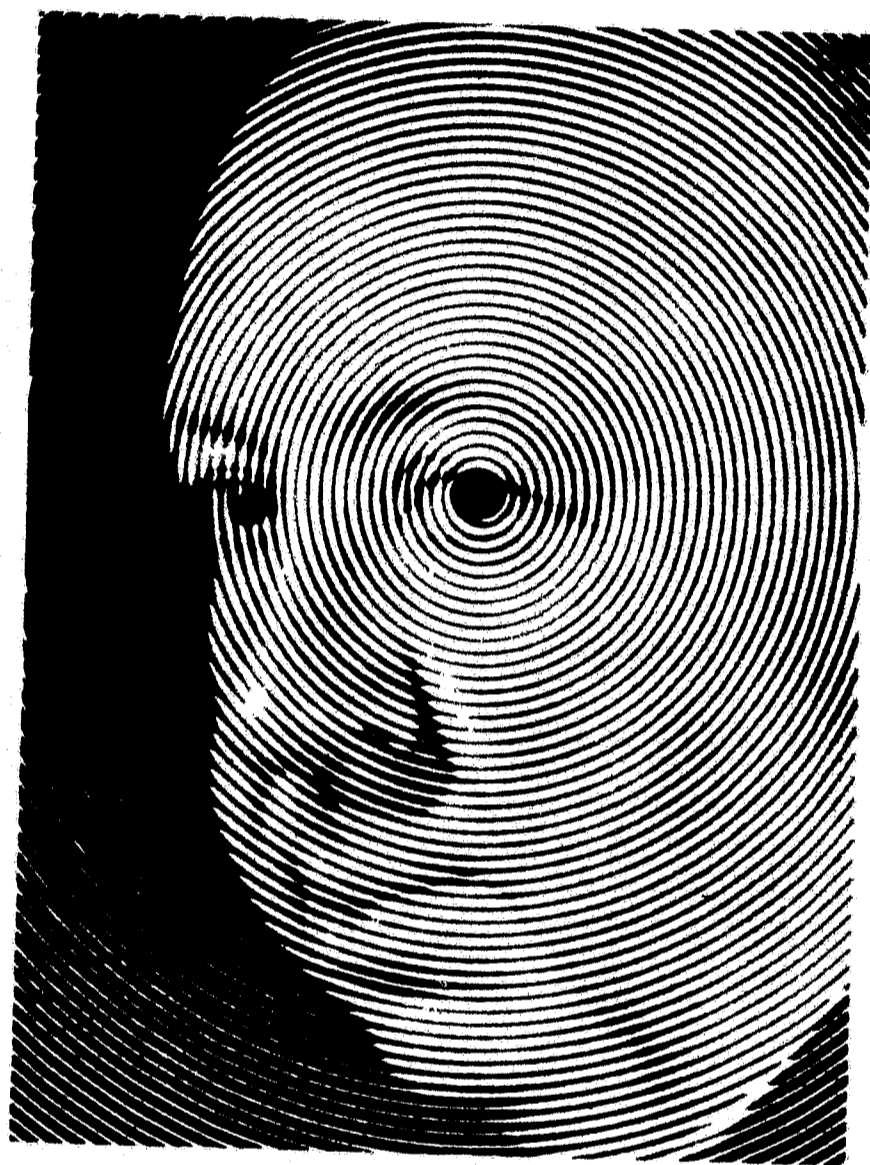

IN YOUR CHARITY

Please pray for the following. Deceased: Friend of Tom Fabish of Dillon; father of John Petitbon, '52; father of Harold Tehan, '48. Ill: Mother-in-law of Al Weinsheimer, '58; mother of Denis Lynch, '63; Bill Coyne, formerly of the Speech Department.

Tomorrow afternoon, we hope that even Hitchcock will experience something new in the way of thrills and suspense. Along with millions of other viewers from coast to coast, he will be watching YOU. Of course, since college football will be 92 years old tomorrow, the folks will also be watching the 1961 version of the Fighting Irish. They'll be watching to see if today's ball players are more skillful than were their great-great-great grandfathers. But, for many viewers from Long Island to San Diego and from Seattle to Miami it will be a first introduction to Notre Dame sportsmanship. And among the millions of viewers there those who insist that "do not contribute to original purposes." sight for the folks back home. Any carelessness in handling the cards after the display can result in someone being injured in the seats below the student section. Running on the field interferes with the band. They've worked on their show for weeks, so make sure that some "showboat" doesn't try to steal the show from them.

The present Senior Class has as much interest in our winning every Saturday as anyone hereabouts could have. They will set the tone for student conduct and sportsmanship. If anyone has any doubts about whether his enthusiasm is suitable let him check it out with one of the Seniors. There is nothing incompatible between good sportsmanship and having a good time. It's everyone's obligation to be good sportsmen.
